

KOBE, a major port in Japan, stands on a narrow fan-shaped plain stretching between a row of ancient mountains to the north and the Island Sea to the south. For ages, the pure mountain streams have deposited rich fertile soil into the port of Kobe as they stretch out toward the sea. This ideal setting allows for the best grazing pastures for the most tender beef, and rich plentiful seas for the best seafood. World renowned for its culinary delights, Kobe brings to Hickory a rich heritage in a relaxing traditional atmosphere. KOBE features the traditional Teppanyaki (flat iron grill) form of cooking. Whatever your taste choice, each morsel is gastronomically joyful. Equally important is its skillful presentation for your visual appetite. May you enjoy a taste of Japan.
